modify ease there's a take of speaking most how such they move, and how such that shitting accounts for the artefact we wager them, which brings us to the succeder of the Neural Correlate Society's 5th Annual Best Visual Illusion of the Year contest, the fortuity of a curveball. To analyse discover this year's winner and the crowning runners up, nous on over to the authorised site.

1. Look directly at the spinning disk. It will appear to fall vertically.

2. Look at the blue fixation point. The disk will appear to fall at about a 20-degree angle.

3. Shift your gaze during the disk's descent. The flight of the oval will abruptly shift direction. The abrupt shift is analogous to the "break" of the curveball.

The controls allow you to adjust the parameters of the effect.
